

IoA shines and wins prestigious Nightingale Award at the Healthcare Design Conference

This year, IoA's new Annina Series was awarded for its innovative functional design and its clean and elegant aesthetics. This is IoA's second consecutive Nightingale Award and 3rd one in five years. (more inside).

Focusing on the Complexities of Healthcare

Today's high degree of specialization of care demands products that focus on the unique needs of each specialty. At the Healthcare Design Conference, IoA showcased a range of products with departmental focus, including the Cardiac Care and the Oncology Care chairs, along with its more universal Overnight collection.

focus on waiting

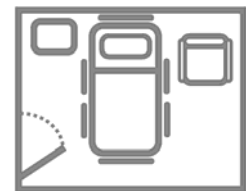

Sitting for endless hours in a state of fatigue and distress is a common experience in a hospital waiting room. The Annina Series introduces a new level of comfort and support to waiting rooms. By combining reclining chairs and standard chairs within a multiple seating row, the Annina gives tired visitors a chance to relax and cope with the long and stressful wait.

The patented roll out ottoman is extremely durable and will support the weight of someone sitting on it.

Bariatric versions of the Annina are available

focus on small foot print

Small patient rooms present a big design challenge. The smaller rooms must accommodate patients, visitors, staff and equipment just as larger rooms. The Annina failsafe recliner, within a small foot print, offers the comfort and support of larger chairs. A visitor may even sit on its roll out foot rest, without damaging the chair. The rear legs are equipped with casters and the Annina Failsafe Recliner can be easily moved around the room. Wood and urethane arm caps are available as well as wood or metal legs.

focus on oncology

Focusing on the needs of patients undergoing Chemotherapy, IoA has created the Oncology Care Chair. Pictured here with its Personal DVD player and the new Profile Tray that folds flush to the side when not in use, the chair also features heated seat and lumbar. All movements are motorized, and include a flat position, a trendelenburg position and a lift assist feature. The Oncology Care Chair was shown with an embroidered daffodil on its back upholstery, a symbol of life and hope.

focus on Cardiac care

The steady advancement of heart medicine has produced a myriad of diagnostic and reparative procedures ranging in degrees of acuity and invasiveness. All cardiac care patients however share some basic needs during the recovery period. Elevating the feet above the heart is crucial to proper recovery as it prevents swelling, and is beneficial to circulation. The Cardiac Care Chair elevates the feet above the heart even in the lounging position, the position most commonly used by patients in a recliner.

Cardiac Care Patients are encouraged to ambulate soon after the procedure, but they do require assistance. By lowering the Telescopic Arm with the touch of a pedal, a nurse is in a better position to assist a patient in or out of the chair. This is not only beneficial to the patient, but reduces the risk of back injury for nursing staff.

focus on mother and baby

The first bond between mother and baby happens in the labor and delivery room or the NICU and the Kangaroo was designed for this moment. The chair locks in all of its reclined positions so there is no sudden movement that would be startling and potentially dangerous. It is a chair that embraces you and your newborn, so that you can focus on the nurturing of your little one.

focus on orthopedics

A specially designed chair is essential in orthopedic departments as it can not only facilitate the recovery process but also prevent injury. Every detail of the Orthopedic Care Recliner, including the angle and the height of the seat, the degree of lumbar support and the method of reclining play a crucial role in providing the proper support and safety needed in this department.

Featuring a patented seat technology that follows the natural body movement of a person entering or exiting the chair, the Ecco Hip Chair (left) reduces the risk of injury for hip patients. The frame design provides a solid gripping point and the foot rest allows the user to relax with a comfortable leg position. arm caps are optional.

focus on overnight guests

The Full House Sleeper Sofa, large enough for two overnight visitors

IoA offers the widest the collection of sleeper solutions in the industry. Eight sleeper sofas, each one with its own sleep surface dimension, foot print and method of conversion. Each sofa is available in 5 different arm styles or armless for built in applications. Drawers, casters and urethane arm caps are among the many options

The IoA Overnight Collection brings families together in the patient room by providing sleeper sofas that are comfortable, intuitive and durable, in a wide variety of sizes and foot prints to fit even in the most challenging of lay outs.

The 20-20 features a remarkably simple mechanism-less conversion

focus on accessories

The Caddy

The Profile tablets and trays

The Caddy and the Profile tablets and trays are designed to provide patients and visitors a small, accessible and unobtrusive surface for their food, lap tops or any personal belongings. The light weight, height adjustable Caddy can be easily pulled up next to a chair or a sofa, while the Profile tablets and trays, attached to the chair's arm, simply swings and folds to the chair's side.

Tops in a variety of shapes, sizes and materials are available for the Caddy and the Profile Series, all featuring an anti-spill raised edge.

Shaker Series

Linea Series

Joey Series

With the addition of the Shaker and the Linea to the Joey Series, IoA announces the creation of a new case good division, dedicated to the development of high quality case goods and creative storage solutions. Standard products as well as a portfolio of custom projects are part of the new offering.

This is a quick overview of what was displayed at the Healthcare Design Conference. The IoA collection is much broader and comprehensive. Our new Web-Site, part of which is temporarily under construction, will show the entire line in detail. We hope you will visit it.
